

Andrew Stevens to speak on freezing injunctions in context of fraud and default

Andrew Stevens recently obtained a US$20 million worldwide freezing injunction in the Commercial Court in a case involving underlying allegations of dishonesty and default on a loan facility. On Wednesday 28 July 2021 he will be speaking about practical issues relating to freezing injunctions during a webinar hosted by Singapore law firm Blackstone & Gold.

The webinar is entitled 'Dishonesty, Dissipation and Deception: Liquidation, receivership or freezer?' The session will take place from 10am UK time // 5pm Singapore time.

The panel will discuss the difficult choices a creditor may have to make when pursuing a deceptive defaulter seeking to hide assets and will cover:

- Objectives, benefits and downsides between liquidation, receivership and freezing injunctions
- Receiver vs Liquidator: how to decide which path is the right one for you?
- Assets in foreign jurisdictions: pitfalls to avoid
- Injunctions: key practical considerations before pressing the button
