

IFCLA Conference 2016 – 9th & 10th June 2016

Matthew Lavy will be speaking at the Institution of Engineering and Technology Conference 2016.

The IFCLA conference offers an unrivalled opportunity for IT lawyers to broaden their outlook and make it truly global. Whether your focus is on outsourcing, the Internet, apps, cryptocurrencies, data protection, Big Data, the Internet of Things, gaming or any of the myriad of other fields affected by IT law, compliance in one jurisdiction gives no security – you have to think globally.

Matthew will be speaking in the 9th session, Virtual Currencies and other Blockchain Environments, alongside Martin von Haller Grønbaek, Bird & Bird and Dr Jonathan Cave, Regulatory Policy Commission with Professor Chris Marsden, University of Sussex chairing the event.

Venue: Institution of Engineering and Technology, 2 Savoy Place, London, WC2R 0BL.

More information about the event can be found here.