

James Watthey and Kajetan Wandowicz called to the Bar of the British Virgin Islands

We are delighted to announce that James Watthey and Kajetan Wandowicz have been called to the Bar of the British Virgin Islands.

James specialises in commercial litigation and arbitration, and has particular experience in shipping, commodities, shipbuilding, energy, and offshore construction. Directories describe him as a “simply brilliant” barrister who is “strong across the board ... responsive and good on his feet” and provides “accurate, clever but, most of all, commercial advice, which is why clients like and trust him”.

Kajetan specialises in commercial and commercial chancery work, and has particular experience in civil fraud, directors’ misfeasance, and a wide range of non-fraud business disputes in litigation and arbitration. Directory recommendations include “operating at a level far beyond his call”, “an excellent advocate” and “an outstandingly talented junior who is destined for big things.”
