

Samantha O'Brien O'Reilly called to the Bar of Ireland

Samantha O'Brien O'Reilly was recently called to the Bar of Ireland. Following her admission to the Degree of Barrister-at-Law by The Honorable Society of King's Inns, Samantha was called to the Bar of Ireland by Mr. Justice Frank Clarke, the Chief Justice of Ireland, in a ceremony conducted from the Four Courts in Dublin in October. Samantha read for the BCL (Law with French Law) at University College Dublin.

To discuss instructing Samantha, please contact the clerks at clerks@4pumpcourt.com.