

UK Reforms Raise Questions for Bermuda

4 Pump Court's Martyn Naylor looks at the changes that are affecting the UK's professional services market focusing on the challenges Insurance and Finance are now facing out of the public eye.

The UK's financial sector is often in the media nowadays, and rarely for the right reasons. There sometimes seems to be a rule amongst journalists that the word 'banking' must be followed by 'scandal'. Yet there is one extremely important part of that sector which has [for the last few years at least] kept itself away from the front pages.

The full article can be found here.